

Exciting News: Kimberly-Clark PPE is Now Part of Ansell!

Dear Valued Partner,

We are thrilled to announce the successful completion of Ansell's acquisition of the Kimberly-Clark Personal Protective Equipment business (KCPPE) following fulfillment of all closing conditions. This acquisition enables our newly unified team to better address even more of your safety needs with:

- Unparalleled Selection: The Ansell portfolio expands to include even more world-class PPE products with Kimtech™ cleanroom and lab PPE and KleenGuard™ protective clothing and eyewear.
- Next-Level Support: We're integrating RightCycle™, a sustainable way to manage non-hazardous PPE waste, and APEX™, a structured solution for cleanroom contamination control with our renowned AnsellGUARDIAN™ safety assessment platform.
- Enhanced Efficiency: Get ready to benefit from a larger and more flexible network as we combine the strength of two powerful safety solutions teams and supply chains.

Initially, this business will operate as an independent unit within Ansell with continued support from Kimberly-Clark. This approach will allow for a gradual, seamless transition of products, personnel, information, and other assets to Ansell over the next year.

For now, customers should continue to order Kimtech™ and KleenGuard™ products through Kimberly-Clark Professional. Kimberly-Clark Professional sellers will also continue to handle inquiries about RightCycle™ and APEX™. You will be promptly notified when Ansell is ready to manage KCPPE product and service requests.

Should you have questions about this acquisition announcement, please reach out to your local Ansell Sales or Customer Service Representative.

We thank you for your continued partnership and look forward to discussing our expanded portfolio with you soon.

Sincerely,

Augusto Accorsi
Chief Commercial Officer,
EMEA & APAC
