

Dear valued customer,

Following, our communications sent in 2022 regarding the implementation of an automated inner wrap packing process for the sterile glove styles listed below, to speed up the packing process and reduce the risk of contamination.

To recap, the previous communication (Ref: LSCCN021) stated...

As part of our future-ready investment programme, we have invested heavily in new automated packing machines and new packaging technology to deliver products that maintain or increase the level of quality while we minimize the use of resources.

Automated Inner Wrap Packing

The current process of inserting the gloves into the inner wrap is a manual process which slows down packing and therefore output. The automated process will increase productivity and free up valuable human resource to undertake other essential activities, with the added benefit of less worker contact reducing the potential for cross particle contamination. The automated process will also eliminate the need for workers to carry out repetitive tasks in line with our CSR policies. Please note that the material, ink used to print on the inner wrap, the packing configuration and pairs per carton content remains unchanged.

We are pleased to inform you that the TouchNTuff® 73-711 and TouchNTuff® 73-500 will be rolled out in the new automated inner wrap from December 2024 production onwards. The full list of styles with the automated inner wrap is as follows:

Product Style	Roll Out Date (Production)
91-225	May 2021
83-500	July 2021
93-700	January 2022
91-210	January 2022
73-701	August 2022
73-711	December 2024
73-500	December 2024

The new automated gatefold inner wrap looks as follows:
